

Building Bridges

Building Bridges is a model program that provides visiting opportunities between children and the frail elderly. Local elementary schools, preschools, and community groups are recruited to bring children into nursing facilities for regular monthly visits. The residents and children do projects together and share experiences. Communications between the children and nursing home residents is simple and easy, colored by the natural affection found between grandparents and grandchildren.

ADARI Presents

An Afternoon With Joann Leonard

“Can stimulating activities help stave off dementia and keep our Seniors spirits as well as their bodies alive”.

Presented By Joann Leonard Chief Operations Officer Alliance for Better Long Term Care

Joann Leonard has been an advocate for our elderly citizens for more years than she cares to count. Her passion is to help long term care facilities provide their residents with the best quality of life possible. Joann knows how important engaging activities are and has put together an informative afternoon. We will learn about the community programs available from the Alliance, new and exciting activities that can be used to engage our residents, and even make some plans for the upcoming holidays.
